

Athena Andreadis (Classical & Jazz Voice, Trinity College of Music); BSc Business Administration, Honors First Class, University of Bath) is a globally-celebrated Anglo-Greek singer-songwriter with several records and awards under her belt including Best Folk / Singer Songwriter Album at the Independent Music Awards (USA). Athena has sold out international shows, topped the UK charts (Amazon Top 5), US charts (Amazon Top 3) and Athena's songs have been licensed, synced and featured internationally on television series, movies, TV commercials, BBC radio stations, Spotify playlists, and shows broadcasted by US channels NBC, CBS and Netflix, the Visit England campaign for London Olympics, Channel 5 and a Sky Arts documentary in the UK made about Athena's work, which has been recognized as unique and powerful (Billboard Magazine) and brave and original (The Guardian) not only for her musical talent as a singer but also as a composer/lyricist too. All of Athena's records are made under her own record label Embraceable Records, collaborating with Sony, EMI, Universal, Believe Digital and Orchard. Athena has worked with renowned producers and songwriters and performed internationally, sold out tours at world-class concert halls and festivals from Royal Festival Hall, the Troubadour and Glastonbury in the UK, to SXSW and events like the Cradle 2 Cradle gala conference in New York City, in the U.S.A. Rolling Stone magazine talked about Athena's environmental work as an ambassador of the Plastic Pollution Coalition (USA) alongside other notable individuals (Maroon 5, Jack Johnson, and Bonnie Raitt). Shortly after her move to Los Angeles from London, Athena was invited to join Leonard Cohen on his latest album, You Want It Darker on which she sings the Greek influenced, "Travelling Light". The single became the album's single reaching the 3 million mark and won them a Grammy Award. Athena teamed up with Producer Ethan Allen for her US records, "Ready For The Sun" and "Outside of Time" which received rave reviews (Huffington Post, American Songwriter, et. al.). Companies like Starbucks started to pay attention and selected Athena as their exclusive artist to feature her UK and Greek albums and help raise money for local charities in Greece. Her charity work also includes writing songs and singing for Save the Children (UK, Germany) and Concern (Ireland). Recently she shared the stage with tenor Andrea Bocelli, singing duets to an enthusiastic audience who gave them a standing ovation.

athenamusic.com